

Cory Devilliers
Development Consultant

A local to the greater Kitchener-Waterloo-Cambridge area, Cory has been developing residential and commercial projects since 2007. His innovative approach combines Economic Development and Building Design to create vibrant, inspiring communities. Recent efforts in Hespeler Village (Cambridge, Ontario) focus on urban renewal within the context of creating broad based community spaces that promote balance between “Live, Work and Play”. This work has been a catalyst for significant spin off development and local investment.

Cory has a BA from the University of Waterloo. Cory’s prior projects have been recognised with awards and grants including the 2014 Award of Excellence by the Waterloo Regional Heritage Foundation for heritage advocacy.
